

Of War

Samael

Anger - the force of the weak that tricks oneself but fools no one

Power - the force that absorbs without being overwhelmed

War the deeper scar of history

War the sanctification of tragedy

Peace - as crown of war is glory built upon misery

Terror - in a dead end finds its way out in the ecstasy of destruction

War the deeper scar of history

War the sanctification of tragedy

War the illusion of majesty

Why should we drink the poison before the remedy

Pride to die in combat - like all the other dead

All this to learn that - all nations' blood is running red

Pride to die in combat - like all the other dead

All this to learn that - all nations' blood is running red

War the deeper scar of history

War the sanctification of tragedy

War the illusion of majesty

Why should we drink the poison before the remedy
