

Like A Lake

Sara Groves

So much hurt and preservation like a tendril round my soul so much painful information no clear way on how to hold it

When everything in me is tightening curling in around this ache I will lay my heart wide open like the surface of a lake wide open like a lake

Standing at this waters edge looking in at God's own heart I've no idea where to begin to swallow up the way things are

Everything in me is drawing in closing in around this pain
I will lay my heart wide open
like the surface of a lake
wide open like a lake

Bring the wind and bring the thunder bring the rain till I am tried when it's over bring me stillness let my face reflect the sky and all the grace and all the wonder of a peace that I can't fake
wide open like a lake

Everything in me is tightening curling in around this ache
I am fighting to stay open
open open oh wide open open like a lake
