

Wait It Out

Sarah Blackwood

If you keep leaving out
Fill that pretty little head with doubt
And doors keep slamming at your back
Close your eyes but can't forget about the past

And he said "Darlin' wait it out. The pain will lessen then come back around. But these hearts won't hold you to the ground. What's been lost can someday be found."

One day my love you will know
This whole time I've been on my way home
Back to you to unbreak my soul
I've got diamonds worth of damage from this road

And he said "Darlin' wait it out. The pain will lessen then come back around. But these hearts won't hold you to the ground. What's been lost can someday be found."

Take some time to throw them out
See what you find, it's too loud
There ain't no time to crumble now oh no not now
I wish it were as easy as it sounds

And he said "Darlin' wait it out. The pain will lessen then come back around. But these hearts won't hold you to the ground. What's been lost can someday be found."

And he said "Darlin' wait it out. The pain will lessen then come back around. But these hearts won't hold you to the ground. What's been lost can someday be found."

What's been lost can someday be found."
