Broussard's Lament

Sarah Jarosz

Storm it did rage on the coastal shore Winds blew so strong then the floods came on People cried what took so long for hell - to come along

Answers came cheap at the break of dawn Sound bites playin' on and on and on They told us Thursday they would come They told us Friday they would come Saturday came and still the dying lived on

The missing ones were lost, not to be found They paid the cost, you let them down Well we said what can we do just to make - it up to you

Oh you can try to make this up to me
All I have is lost, not much to see
They told me Thursday they would come
They told me Friday they would come
Saturday's here and I'm trying find my home
Oh the time is here, time to find my home
