Automatic

Another dawn another day I long to waste I like the comfort of the chaos in my place I put my mind on hold my conscience on standby for a little while

Another promise to my room I couldn't keep another night just full of television sleep and all my books are getting on the shelf

I liven up for giving in I'm never cold but shivering the more I learn the less I know gotta dig myself out of this hole cause

Sometimes I feel so automatic in this automatic world I can't escape my automatic this automatic world

Now and then I realize a trail of fear everytime my resolutions disappear but then again I'm slipping back into release

sometimes I feel so automatic in this automatic world I can't escape my automatic this automatic world

I'm sick of it all just rising to fall I'm hiding to seek I'm a freak what a freak though it's only on my mind until now I failed to find the way of control

Sometimes I feel so automatic in this automatic world I can't escape my automatic this automatic world

Sometimes I feel so automatic in this automatic world I can't escape my automatic this automatic world
