

Enemies

Saviour

Bleeding through life without flare
When did that fire disappear?
Tell me one thing that's true
And I'll tell you everything I fear
Like empty rooms
Where I reside
Like building tops
To run and hide
When did that fire disappear?
Safer in the bed where I lay
Don't you know these scars won't wash away
They barely fade
As I repeat
Every fucking memory
Slowly fucking killing me
Find me in an elegy
Inside the great unknown
You slept like the moon wouldn't dare disappear
You traded tomorrow and love for your sorrow
Inside the great unknown
Inside the great unknown
Pour like rain
Flood my thoughts again
And try to wash away these scars
Pour like rain
Flood my stupid fucking thoughts again
And try to wash away these scars
So I'll spend the rest my life sleeping
Dreaming of what we could have been
I'll spend the rest my life sleeping
Dreaming of all the words I never said before
Hold me close
For a moment then the moment is gone
For a moment then the moment is gone
How do I fight this alone?
I've got enemies
I've got entities
My anxieties
Running through my head
I don't even want to know the answers
I've got enemies
I've got entities
My anxieties
Running through my head
I don't even want to know the answers
I've got enemies
I've got entities
My anxieties
Useless memories
Bring me to my knees
On repeat
Like rain
Flood my thoughts again

Dreaming of what we could have been
Dreaming of all the words I never said before
