

Pixelated

Saviour

Push me into your gloom
(Don't run away, don't run away, don't run away)
I'll face this world on my own
(Until you get home)
Pull me into your tomb
(Don't run away, don't run away, don't run away)
I'll count the stars on my own
(Until I find my way back to you)

Sharpen your pixelated heart
Because you're not the person I used to know
These useless memories
Run through my head

Sometimes I look at you
Just to remind myself
Don't become someone else
Even if your shadow gets lost in the dark
(Don't run away, don't run away)
Someday I'll forget you
I'll have to remind myself
I've always stood by myself
Even if my shadow gets lost in the dark

Push me into your gloom
(Don't run away, don't run away, don't run away)
I'll face this world on my own
(Until you get home)
Pull me into your tomb
(Don't run away, don't run away, don't run away)
I'll count the stars on my own
(Until I find my way back to you)

Just what have you become?

I barely fucking recognize you anymore
I barely think there's any word genuine
I barely want to speak
And I can barely breathe

Look back to the moment
That we had it all
And we fucking feared for a second
And are you alone yet?
Are you alone yet?

Look back to the moment
Then the moment is gone
The days we fucking felt so strong
Now it's gone
And are you alone yet?
Are you alone yet?

I watched you fade
I watched you fade

Sometimes I look at you

Just to remind myself
Don't become someone else
Even if your shadow gets lost in the dark
(Don't run away, don't run away)
Someday I'll forget you
I'll have to remind myself
I've always stood by myself
Even if my shadow gets lost in the dark

And I will follow you
Like your shadow
Until the day that you get home
Until you get home
Until you get home
Until I find my way back to you