Homestead In My Heart

Sawyer Brown

Well it seems that we've been runnin' from are past Life never gave us time to settle down And you questioned whether frightened love can last And that ole highway song is just not where it's at

The trees roll by and the white lines hold me back
From mobile to Denver there's something that they all lack
So until we find a place to make a new start
I will build you a homestead in my heart

Well I'm lookin' at you sleepin' across the seat And the whine of the trucks are fillin' up my ears All the highs and lows left somewhere in between All those one night stands between Dallas and new Orleans

Well I can't offer much except the love Of a guitar picker ain't nobody thinkin' of So until we find a place to make a new start I will build you a homestead in my heart

So until we find a place to make a new start I will build you a homestead in my heart
