

What Am I Going To Tell My Heart

Sawyer Brown

Everybody thinks that I'm doing fine
They think that I finally got you off my mind
I fooled them all, oh babe, I'm playing it cool
But there's a part of me that I can't seem to fool
With out gettin' over you.

So what am I going to tell my heart
While I'm lying here alone in the dark
And your memory steps in and tears it all apart
What am I going to tell my heart?

You'd think by now that I'd be over you
I could tell you that but my heart knows the truth
That lies convincing, girl, for everyone but me
And everyday that goes by somethings telling me
That part of me ain't free.

So what am I going to tell my heart
While I'm lying here alone in the dark
And your memory steps in and tears it all apart
What am I going to tell my heart?

So what am I going to tell my heart
While I'm lying here alone in the dark
And your memory steps in and tears it all apart
What am I going to tell my heart?

So what am I going to tell my heart
While I'm lying here alone in the dark
And your memory steps in and tears it all apart
What am I going to tell my heart?
