

I'm passing through the doorway now everything is upside down the one that I'm leaving is the one I'm really trying to find

I know
it's so stupid and it's tearing me down but a lack of selfconfidence is keeping me down tonight
all night

I try telling you everything's not broken but you cried when telling me all we had is gone

I'm drifting through the morning breeze colors blurring in my eyes the one that I'm missing is the one drifting by my side

I know
it's so stupid and it's tearing me down
but a lack of selfconfidence
is keeping me down tonight
all night

and I try telling you everything's not broken but you cried when telling me all we had is gone
and I try telling you everything's alright
'cause I feel that deep down inside you I'm still there

Try, try, try, try

and I try telling you everything's alright
cause I feel that deep down inside you I'm still there