

Just woke up from a dream
Then I realized I'm in my haven
I faced the enemy within
I keep on looking for all that was taken

When night falls and fear fills the air
There is a new dawn somewhere
With all its hopes your dream moves on
A new life is on the horizon

These little lies are like
Pages torn from the book of life
It's so hard to keep it together
But I will give a try

When night falls and fear fills the air
There is a new dawn somewhere
With all its hopes your dreams moves on
A new life is on the horizon

Though things will never be the same
A million times i looked for the ones to blame
For so long I lived among liars and thieves
Broken and crushed I turn to the ones i miss