

Expectation

Seaway

These never ending,
condescending circumstances I left pending...
Don't act like you're helping,
just stop pretending to lose ll control
Unable to steer,
you told me that night
was your biggest fear and I said.

"They'll never climb higher
but they can sure as hell try.
As long as we keep on they'll keep wondering why."

Don't let yourself go, don't let yourself go.
The thought of it makes me sick.
At the end of the day
we've been casted away
but I know we can handle this.
