

What a nice day to make a list of all the things I need to do.
My life's in disarray and I'm beginning to think I might be screwed.

What a nice day. I'm all dressed up as if I've got somewhere to be.

This tie is kind of short and these shoes don't fit, but there's no one here to see.

I wish time would linger a little longer.

I keep paying for all my problems.
It's not working out so well.
I could have made the call to walk away,
But I chose to run through hell.

What a nice day. My girlfriend left me for some other dude.
My mother is ashamed and she's afraid that I might never move.

I wish time would linger a little longer.

I keep paying for all my problems.
It's not working out so well.
I could have made the call to walk away,
But I chose to run through hell.

We're chasing cigarettes with coffee in the daylight,
Whisky with coke on the weekends.
Everybody knows that we're alright
But we're pushing our luck tonight.
Pushing our luck

All I remember thinking was, "is anybody still awake?"

What a nice day to make a list of all the things I need to do.
My life's in disarray and I'm beginning to think I might be screwed.

I keep paying for all my problems.
It's not working out so well.
I could have made the call to walk away,
But I chose to run through hell.

What a nice day to pay for all my problems.
What a nice day to pay for all my problems.
What a nice day
I should have walked away, but I chose to run through hell.
