

Lonely swan on the silver lake,
You are drifting alone
Oh, you know how a heart can break,
When love has flown
When to some distant ocean crossed,
Some mysterious sea,
Though a lover be ever lost,
Love cannot be

Silver swan by the shore,
Lift your wings up and fly;
Will you wait evermore
Let life pass you by?
You belong to the sun,
You belong to the sky,
You have more than one song
To sing before you die

To the edge of the moon you'll go,
I would fly there with you
Where the tides of heaven flow,
Above the blue,
You are destined for higher ground,
Not to linger with me
To the earth I am ever bound,
Eternally

We belong to the sun,
We belong to the sky,
We have more than one song
To sing before we die

We have more than one song
To sing before we die