

I Took the Sky Away

Secrets of the Moon

Ineffable perception one body unfold
the clean white the shattered skin now take the sky away

the moment you spoke out my name you were too far away now that I have written these songs for you I can barely remember your face your arms up in the mephitic air out of reach on torrid chairs you said the words you needed to say but I lost your voice again silence keeps burning your tongue quicksand filling your vessels you shall not forgive me this time intoxicating possession

I took the sky away
welcome endless day

the moment you spoke out my name
you were too far away
now that I have sung this song for you I can finally see your face