Blood & Tears

Sentenced

What is it, that we're struggling for? I don't quite see it anymore Life kicks us in the teeth Yet something makes us crawl back for more

Blood and tears upon the altars of our lives we shed Blood and tears until the sweet release we share in death Hours like days, weeks feel like years Decades of Tears Yet somehow...

We'll lose the things we've fighted for Each rise is followed by a fall We'll lose the ones we love, the ones we most adore Yet go on... We go on

Blood and tears upon the altars of our lives we shed Blood and tears until the sweet release we share in death Hours like days, weeks feel like years Decades of Tears Yet somehow everything seems so worthwhile For a moment

What is it that we're waiting for? Looking forward to, preparing for? Life kicks us in the teeth Yet something makes us crawl back for more

Blood and tears upon the altars of our lives we shed Blood and tears until the sweet release we share in death Hours like days, weeks feel like years Decades of Tears Yet somehow everything seems so worthwhile For a moment

_____

_____