

Against The Grain

Seventh Wonder

Stop pretending like you know it all!
From the top of my lungs I'm begging you all,
Please stop!
Because even though I am just a child,

Still I see this isn't real
A computer could never love,
A machine could never feel
Live a life, or live a dream?

One girl against them all,
Just one to break the mold
And one voice you could hear a needle fall

Like an island lost in a stream
It's a nightmare that you call a dream
'Cause you were raised to be honest
Now look at yourself,
Can you righteously stand to defend your truth?

From a slumber the world awoke
From the top of her lungs
With tears in her eyes she spoke
'Cause that was all she knew how to

Words of fire stay cold
Does it matter if you win the world
If to win you've lost your soul?
Live a life or live a dream

One girl against them all,
Just one to break the mold
And one voice you could hear a needle fall

Like an island lost in a stream
It's a nightmare that you call a dream
'Cause you were raised to be honest
Now look at you defending your ways, your choice, your truth?

When our vision was blurred, and our hearts lead astray
She opened our eyes for us
We must gather the greatest of minds we can find
There must be a way to survive

One girl against them all,
Lo and behold

Like an island lost in a stream
It's a nightmare that you call a dream
'Cause you were raised to be honest
Now look at you defending your ways, your choice, your truth?