Maybe tonight I'm gonna tell him how I feel Maybe I'll leave well enough alone Maybe, just maybe, he'll want to be my baby What if he's got plans of his own

I'm waiting for the perfect moment
Looking for the perfect phrase
The one I finally choose is simply "I love you"
As the words came out I heard a voice inside me say

What made you say that
Was it the moonlight, was it the starlight in your eyes
What made you say that
Have you been listening to your heart
It's too late now, you don't want to (I won't let you) take it back
'Cause I know love's
What made you say that

Look up to see his reaction

And a smile slowly spread across his face

He said "What took you so long

That's what I've been waiting on

I thought you'd take forever and a day"

What made you say that
Was it the moonlight, was it the starlight in your eyes
What made you say that
Have you been listening to your heart
It's too late now, you don't want to (I won't let you) take it back
'Cause I know love's
What made you say that

What made you say that
Was it the moonlight, was it the starlight in your eyes
What made you say that
Have you been listening to your heart
It's too late now, you don't want to (I won't let you) take it back
'Cause I know love's

Was it the moonlight, was it the starlight in your eyes What made you say that

Have you been listening to your heart

What made you say that...

What made you say that
