

Solitaire

Shawn Mullins

Baby, don't you know I hate it when you cry
When your tears fall down I feel like I could die or disappear
And that's the fear that you have But you've gotta follow your own path

I've always been told the tighter that you hold,
You might just squeeze the life
Right out of your own soul
Love can take its toll on your heart
Why can't you finish what you start?

Love is cruel, Baby, love ain't fair
And there ain't no map or book of rules to get you there
It's just a friendly game of solitaire
Baby, can't you see to love a man like me,
You gotta be crazier than any girl could ever be