

When the Lightning Strikes Again

Sheena Easton

Such imagination in your eyes, when youre touching me
The way your hands feel, so cool, I can tell you do it from memory
But I want you now, and I dont care, if it isnt right or it isnt fair
So you better beware

[R:]

When the lightning strikes again, what you gonna do
When the lightning strikes again, its gonna tear your heart out
But when the lightning strikes, its gonna be forever
Maybe now or maybe never

Call it fascination with the way our love survives another night
I wanna tell you that its over, but you just say turn out the light
Well you hurt me once, now youre back for more
I just dont know what were heading for, so you better watch out

[R]

Once again on the edge of an old romance
Where you gonna go, how you gonna get out?

[R]