

Oh why do you look upset? The sky turns yellow
If only you will smile at me again (the world will turn blue again)
A red alarm goes off somewhere, I stand still and look around
Then your mint color smile (colors in the world)

The moment we lock eyes
My gray heart beats again (redly beats)
In your eyes, I used to be dark but I find the light

Did my eyes go bad? The moment your hand touched me, everything around me is colored
In the white and coldly frozen world, the moment my eyes went blind
You make my life colorful

I think you're magical (Hey) I think you're wonderful (Yeah)
Because of you, my heart is colorful
In the black and dark world, the moment I try to close my eyes
You make my life colorful

I can see your spectrum
My heart beats more than a kick drum, it goes to you like going down a slide
Be my favorite color pink, give me your wink
Cover me with your color

Cover the colorless with a rainbow, put a color to the sunset ocean
The landscape that you see is so warm, face the wind that you feel

The moment we lock eyes
My gray heart beats again (redly beats)
In your eyes, I used to be dark but I find the light

Did my eyes go bad? The moment your hand touched me, everything around me is colored
In the white and coldly frozen world, the moment my eyes went blind
You make my life colorful

I think you're magical (Hey) I think you're wonderful (Yeah)
Because of you, my heart is colorful
In the black and dark world, the moment I try to close my eyes
You make my life colorful

Did my eyes go bad? The moment your hand touched me, everything around me is colored
This moment where we hold hands in this thickly green-scented world

Did my eyes go bad? The moment your hand touched me, everything around me is colored
In the white and coldly frozen world, the moment my eyes went blind
You make my life colorful

I think you're magical (Hey) I think you're wonderful (Yeah)
Because of you, my heart is colorful
In the black and dark world, the moment I try to close my eyes
You make my life colorful