

Never, Never, No

Shirley Bassey

Two of us, new to us
Why must the daylight come?
Sweet your hair, cheeks so warm
Why not forever?
And I think when you say to me
That it's time to go
No, you can never go
Never, never, no

Early hours speak and our
Words ride the morning breeze
Voices odd, far away
Words and you whisper with a kiss
Tell me something more
Were you here before?
This, and I tell you no
Never, never, no

Yesterday, in my eye
Grey covered calendar
And do I tell half a lie
If yesterday there were
Nights, no, nothing has to do
Then with you and me
'Til the moment when I knew
You you had come to be
Night and day to me

All I do, full with you
When is it happening?
Not before, not to come
Now, only now
Is like diamond with fragile eyes
And if I were wise
I might explain to you
How to keep it so
Will I ever know?
Never, never, no

Yesterday, in my eye
Grey covered calendar
And do I tell half a lie
If yesterday there were
Nights, no, nothing has to do
Then with you and me
'Til the moment when I knew
You you had come to be
Night and day to me

All I do, full with you
When is it happening?
Not before, not to come
Now, only now
Is like diamond with fragile eyes
And if I were wise
I might explain to you
How to keep it so

Will I ever know?
Never, never, no

Never, never, no
Never, never, no
