

'Til Love Touches Your Life

Shirley Bassey

'Til love touches your life
You drift and you wander and you roam
Through towns and lies of strangers
'Til love touches your life
Your heart doesn't ever feel at home
You fight the world and tell yourself you're happy

But when love touches your life
You learn what it's really like to live
The feel of home
The learning-how-to-give
The need never to part
The warmth there in your heart
When love gently reaches out and touches your life

Oh, the feel of home
The learning-how-to-give
The need never to part
The warmth there in your heart
When love gently reaches out and touches your life

Your life
Your life
Your life