

Still Believe

Shola Ama

In the beginning it was just like a dream
I remember every word you whispered so sweet
Your tender kisses and the love that we made
You got me on my knees I was never afraid

You promised me the world
Said I was your only girl

I've been told a million lies
I've been left alone with a broken heart
But I still believe in love, I've been hurt a thousand times
I've been crying all my tears in the dark
But I still believe in love

I have been looking for somebody who's right
Need a man who'll be there for more than one night
I have been looking for the love of my life
When you think you found someone, you live on a lie

You promised me the world
Said I was your only girl

I've been told a million lies
I've been left alone with a broken heart
But I still believe in love, I've been hurt a thousand times
I've been crying all my tears in the dark
But I still believe in love

I've never lost my faith in love
I've never lost my hope for a good life
There's gotta be someone for me
Somebody who can give me everything I need
