

Because It's Christmas

Sidewalk Prophets

The snow is falling again
It looks a wonderland
But I'm stuck in traffic behind all these red lights
So I call you up and sigh
Cause I forgot the pumpkin pie
You say "it's all right; we'll still have a wonderful night"

Just take your time and slow it down
And let your heart hear the joyful sounds"

Because it's Christmas
Love is filling the air
Because it's Christmas
The thrill of hope is everywhere
So let the music play
And let your worry melt away
Because it's Christmas

Back home the fire's bright
And the tree is full of lights
But the family's coming and there's so much work to be done
So you call me up and say
Could you hurry on your way
I say "hold on, tonight will be so much fun"

Just take a breath, and say a prayer
And before you know it I'll be there"

And in this world so loud and busy
Sometimes we forget just why
We celebrate this time each year
But if you listen close the angels cry
The whole world sings the reason why

Because it's Christmas
Our savior's born tonight
Because it's Christmas...
