

Bless me, for what's under my skin
Fear me, for what it's given to me
I fear I'll come home a broken man

The madness means nothing if you know the purpose
What's shed from the smoke and dust?
Discomfort chokes at my every thought
And I'll bleed out all i can
But I'm leaving, I'm leaving a broken man

Bless me, for what's under my skin
Fear me, for what it's given to me
I've been cheated, I've been mislead
An identity i can't live with
The war inside of my head keeps waging on

I'll never know regret
Regret from what i never said
Can you feel it?
The false lies you chose to spread
Run around and around in my head
Like clockwork it follows me round to my death

Never knowing a fucking thing
I'll keep on searching but never discovering
Where I stand or choose to fit in
This world and my world will be the death of me

And as I listen to the seconds gone by, I'm broken inside
In half the man I was last time

Bless me, for what's under my skin
Fear me, for what it's given to me
I've been cheated, I've been mislead
An identity i can't live with
The war inside of my head keeps waging on

Ohh god please help me
I'm sick of loosing sleep
So sick I cannot eat
I'm sick of breathing
So sick of counting the bodies of my dead friends in my eyelids
Oh god, oh god please help me