

Revealing

Signs of Betrayal

Staring into your eyes
I can see the painful despise that you feel
I guess I could not make it right
You finally saw the side
The part of me that I've tried to hide all along
Guess I could not be that strong
Falling apart so suddenly
Pressures from you and from me
Did I push you
Too far this time to return
Before you turn your back on me
Just let me say this one last thing
This one last thing

It's in its final moment
Let's take a step forward to see where this is going to lead
We both may have regrets here
But if you're willing we could leave behind the painful tears

Wish I could take us back
To the times we were lost inside each other's minds
But now we're both left to decide
Please let me help to heal
Lead us to a new beginning to reveal
Another side that's not so evil

It's in its final moment
Let's take a step forward to see where this is going to lead
We both may have regrets here
But if you're willing we could leave behind the painful tears

Before you turn your back on me
Just let me say this one last thing

It's in its final moment
Let's take a step forward to see where this is going to lead
We both may have regrets here
But if you're willing we could leave behind the painful tears