

This Night Is Mine

Six Degrees of Separation

This night is mine
We dwell in shadows, in darkness we bloom
Twilight is our brother and God bless the moon
Ash to ash, dust to dust, shadow to shadow, in rain of stars
Ash to ash, dust to dust, nighttime heroes and midnight scars
In shadows we gather, we hide among trees
Praying for night skies, crawling in fallen leaves
It's the night our lover and bride, our kingdom and home, our altar and throne
It's the night our shield and pride, dark beating heart, oh, mother night
Sometimes, when full moon rules the night, when stars in passion are shining
Songs sound through the darkness of my heart
When the flowers of night are blooming wild the old desire is a waking
Night breath of thousands of shadows mortifies
It's my kingdom, it's my home
It's my altar and my throne
Dark beating heart, oh, mother night
It's my kingdom, it's my home
It's my altar and my throne
Dark beating heart, oh, mother night
Night dwells in my heart, my heart beats for the night
Thirteen seals of dark I hide, because this night is mine!!!
We dwell in shadows, in darkness we bloom
Twilight is our brother and God bless the moon
Ash to ash, dust to dust, shadow to shadow, in rain of stars
Ash to ash, dust to dust, nighttime heroes and midnight scars
It's my kingdom, it's my home
It's my altar and my throne
Dark beating heart, oh, mother night