The Falls

Skepticism

The first spring gliding through the woods of velvet wanderer still and the road moving

The second spring falling down the rough face of the gorge ropes of hope cut and uncut

The third spring diving into the veins of the mountains cold pressure - suction here to nowhere