fallen angel head crashes dead out of control lost memories sta ircase twists darker rooms lit with left out toys after playing men ch anges toys into tools twisted playthings on the staircase fools whose weap ons represents the killing game who taught the killing game who tau ght the killing game awaken eyes sewn wearing glasses dripping tapping at the temple door locked inside scream inner scraping tooth and nail nowhere to go quiet retraces forcing light tears then pretend nothing blinds minds closed in sanctuary closed in sanctuary padded walls not quiet storms fur y burned out killing time who taught the killing game time's taught the kill ing game herself no i taught the killing game first passing words distant pain remember trains of thought collide no one view window pushing faces through sharp cold glass poke bloody holes exposed i taught the killing game first i taught the killing game first till at last you regret tortured animals wake up time beckons death upon myself eyes travelled harden strange no stronger

feeling tempting motion slows to a crawl places his weaponry an d it's a trap let go the springs snap shut gazes show sharper teeth giving in to the jaws of death i taught the killing game i taught the killing game first i taught i taught i taught the game first first