

You said you're fine
It seems like you've lost your mind
Then what makes you fine?
And calling your own
Whatever makes you think you're not alone?

You look into the ocean
To escape from the very own life you live
It's time to bury the only body you have left
Hold your breath, make it quick

Come close, tell me your name
You mislead them all, even yourself
You bet I take from us all for so long
Let's see your face

You said you're fine
It seems like you've lost your mind
Then what makes you fine?
And calling your own
Whatever makes you think you're not alone?

I'm in love with someone not real
Pack your bags with feelings and, and leave
Your biggest secret is a weakness for the truth
For the truth

Come close, tell me your name
Tell me your game
There's a noose around my neck
Hold on 'til I can't look back anymore

You're floating high
High above the clouds all alone
I've got a life to live but where is yours?
[Incomprehensible]

Don't you think I can change?
Don't you think I can change just for you?
Don't you think I can change?
Don't you think I can change just for you?

You're floating high
You're floating high
I can't look back

You said you're fine
You left me here to die
It seems like you've lost your mind
To die

You said you're fine
You left me here
Living your life
All alone