

Opponent

Soen

Quiet rest, with a rope around my neck
I assure you that the time is coming near Fight them all, break the spirit and the bone
All I care for is what's happening to me

Pushed away and rejected from first day
Aever felt that I am like everyone else
Architects of my intellect and flesh
Always pressured me towards the common frame

So now, chuck it down your throat

See me stand
Among the waves
The slaying hand

Still I am
The dream and fall
A hateful grace

Growing darkness war within Emptiness
Shadows alter my reflection
Desolation marks my skin
Loneliness
Visions alter my perception

In Isolation, I slowly drown
Vague destination
For words I shout

Victimized by my equals all my life
Consequently rival of the obedient mass
Parody, be submissive to act free
Be what dividend is telling you to be

Mockery of the essence of our kind
In the mirror you see nothing but a farce

Linger on, aiming far but ending close
Bearing excess as an instinct not a choice

Desire, downfall
Possessed by greed and numbers
The more we want it all
The worse we treat each other
