

Just Leave It

Solar Fake

It's the light that feels so compromising
I would think that it's the least surprising
The clearest view that could not
Hide away the dirt in the dark spots

And you just said that it's alright
Above all, everything's gonna be fine
And then you're waiting patiently
For anybody to agree

It's time, but you just stand there, talking
Boring all the people you've just brought in
A picture, most insignificantly
And is there nowhere else to be?

You noticed I'm failing
But I knew you were flailing
In the filth you have left for me
But it's worthless if you don't see

Go, leave it, if you can't see the mistake
Just leave it, you never give what it takes
You think you're strong, but will your breath last longer?
So close your eyes and run
Your life is golden

If life needs different circumstances
After all, we missed the chances
To change it for the better or even for the worse

But all the time, you noticed I'm failing
But I knew you were flailing
In the filth you have left for me
But it's worthless if you don't see

Go, leave it, if you can't see the mistake
Just leave it, you never give what it takes
You think you're strong, but will your breath last longer?
So close your eyes and run
Your life is golden

Go, leave it
Go, leave it
Just leave it
Just leave it
You think you're strong, but will your breath last longer?
So close your eyes and run
Your life is golden
