

This Pretty Life

Solar Fake

Your hazy image on the wall, its watching me
Here in my mind, I cannot see
Drifting off the course, apparently
I have no strength to disagree
And everyone is filled with chemicals
To get some sleep or something else
But I don't want to wake them up again
Just let it all pass...

I'm not here to find the careless sense anymore
I'm not here to try to fit into those worlds that I don't belong

Get it all, then break it
How could you sink down so low?
This pretty life, you've faked it
So that you'll never be left alone
But everything is waste now
So tell me why you don't know
This pretty life, a shattered vow
And nothing's left to blow

And everyone would try so many things
Like angels fly with broken wings
Needing so much time to finalize
Their self-portrait, mutating lies
Sifting through ruins crushed by themselves
No leftovers for someday else
Seizing all remains as long as they can

I'm not here to find the careless sense anymore
I'm not here to try to fit into those worlds that I don't belong

Get it all, then break it
How could you sink down so low?
This pretty life, you've faked it
So that you'll never be left alone
But everything is waste now
So tell me why you don't know
This pretty life, a shattered vow
And nothing's left to blow

And nothings left to blow...
Nothings left to blow...

Get it all, then break it
How could you sink down so low?
This pretty life, you've faked it
So that you'll never be left alone
But everything is waste now
So tell me why you don't know
This pretty life, a shattered vow
And nothing's left to blow

Nothing's left to blow
Nothing's left to blow