

You need the rescue, but you're bleeding out
You think you're all this, but you have your doubts
You want to say it but your mouth is shut
Yet, something is calling but you won't know what

Who are you?
What then will you do?

Will you discover you can't start it again?
You won't believe it
You won't believe it but you must
Your world will come undone
Undone
Undone
Undone

Who are you?
What then will you do?
Who are you?
What then will you do?

You hear the earth around you speaking tongues
Your mind will open so fill up your lungs
Something is calling but you won't know what
Your world woke up

We will not bury, you, the bones of our youth
They still grow under our skin
They're breaking through [x3]

Your world woke up
Undone