Dear stranger to authority
Welcome to the minority
It's not someplace you have to go
It's not something you have to know

Don't do this, don't touch that, hey
Draw the line, burn this down, I'll speak my mind
Maybe I'll wait for another time

Sometimes good comes to those who wait Sometimes it makes you hesitate Some folks fight for humanity Some folks fight for their sanity

Don't do this, don't do that, don't try this, don't touch that, hey

Do it for the last time
By the weight of the world coming down

Down on, down on up to me Down on up to me, wait for another time

When you look down on me I get so uppity, hey Starting my own army, just me and my friends Said you better get ready

(Ha, ha, ha)

Coming down, down on, down on up to me, down on up to me Coming down, down on, down on up to me Down on up to—

Though it might just come down to trust It sometimes just comes down to lust That's just one person's point of view
