

When we walk

Southpaw

When we walk
All the lights are shining
All the people are staring
When we walk
All the dogs are barking
All the kids are laughing
And every eye makes a hole in us
And every eye
Every single ray of light
Comes down for us

When we walk
All the trees are bending
And all the planes are landing
When we walk
All the traffic is rolling
You could hear the grass growing
And every eye makes a hole in us
And every single ray of light
Comes down because of us
And people say:
"Look at the pair, look at the hair!"
"It's so hard to tell which one of them is the girl!"
But we just see ourselves
And nobody else
And try to pretend
That we really don't care?