Red.Right.Return. (Straight In Our Hands)

Sails catch any wind that they can Through any ocean to any land There's no worries Power carries no concern Silhouetted by the fields as they burn There's no worries

You're falling straight into our hands No compromise, and no demands You're falling straight into our hands Into our hands, into our hands

Still water hides an undertow You can't fight what you can't control There's no worries

Sparta