

The smoother the rise, the harder the fall
The lower the skyline, the deeper the sprawl
Out on your own, caller unknown
I'll show you a place that used to be home

All of the time, where does it go?
How many people do you still know?
Does it feel like there's something you're missing?
Isn't it funny how it all pans out?
Even when you wanna be left out
Does it feel like something's missing?

You try to get out, they drag you back in
(Isn't it funny how it all pans out?)
They go for the throat, take it on the chin
Table for one, unstable for two
(Isn't it funny how it all pans out?)
I wish you could meet me when I'm not with you

All of the time, where does it go?
How many people do you still know?
Does it feel like there's something you're missing?
Isn't it funny how it all pans out?
Even when you wanna be left out
Does it feel like something's missing?

I'll leave you alone if you leave me alone
(I'll leave you alone if you leave me alone)
I'll leave you alone if you leave me alone

All of the time, where does it go?
How many people do you still know?
Does it feel like there's something you're missing?
Isn't it funny how it all pans out?
Even when you wanna be left out
Does it feel like something's missing?
