

Poor Richard

Spirit

Remarking on the freshness of garbage
With each and every person that he meets

And debating on the price of admission
While someone is lying, dying in the street

Or understanding all the manner of people
The city of mine is such a lonely place to live and live and live.....