

Promise

Spoken

Yet another day seems like it's wasted
You don't feel you're any closer to the prize
A dead end job where there's no future
Praying that tomorrow things won't be this way

Things will get better, this I promise you
And I know that you won't feel this way forever
Things will get better, this I promise you
And I know loneliness won't last forever

Yet another day, another tired morning
You're catching up to your intentions
You're thinking life has to be easier than this
Maybe tomorrow things won't be this way

Things will get better, this I promise you
And I know it won't feel this way forever
Things will get better, this I promise you
And I know we can find a way to make it better
Things will get better, this I promise you

Things will get better, this I promise you
And I know it won't feel this way forever
Things will get better, this I promise you
And I know loneliness won't last forever

Things will get better, this I promise you
And I know things will get better, this I promise you
And I know things will get better, this I promise you
And I know loneliness won't last forever
