When I'm with you, all my brothers, oh I feel like a king It feels like I'm dreaming

When that blood goes rattling through my veins My ears start to ring I notice what matters

And I got nothing to lose but darkness and shadows Got nothing to lose but bitterness and patterns

When I can't find the way to reach you my love I'm just not the same
Just the same

When I know you're watching out for me I know what I'm knowing I can see what matters

And I got nothing to lose but darkness and shadows Got nothing to lose but emptiness and hang-ups Oooo

Oh, when I know you're watching out for me I look for what matters
And I notice what matters

And I got nothing to lose but darkness and shadows Got nothing to lose but loneliness and patterns

The flowers blooming, the trains collide Ahhh
I don't got a thing to lose
