

I Look To You

Stars Go Dim

I've been having conversations up inside my head
Like I'm taking a vacation from the life I live
Praying to hear Your calling
Praying for Jesus walking
I know that You're the answer to my questioning
I know that You're the God that's over everything
I feel Your blessing on me
It feels like Sunday morning

Eyes focused on the sky
Head full of reasons why
I don't care what other people say
I look to You, You
In every situation You're the life that I will choose
Every situation, every second I look to You, You
In every situation You're the life that I will choose
I look to You, I look to You

In the valley of the shadow I will have no fear
In the moment of my weakness I can feel You here
You're always close to me
With everything I need
I see You lighting up the dark until it disappears
I feel You raising up my life into the stratosphere
You're always close to me
With everything I need

Eyes focused on the sky
Head full of reasons why
I don't care what other people say
I look to You, You
In every situation You're the life that I will choose
Every situation, every second I look to You, You
In every situation You're the life that I will choose
I look to You, I look to You

The past couple nights been rough, I keep waking up
Filled with anxiety and doubt, don't think I'm strong enough
They said my prayer was a weapon, that I should dust it off
Or maybe every time I took a step I didn't wait for God
I don't know, but if I'm weak I know that he is strong
He sees it all, the hurt inside of me that keeps me numb
And if I keep this unforgiveness how do I move on
When it was His Son who took the cross for me where I belong

Uh-huh, and I know sometimes I question this path I'm on Or had the grace erased all my past mistakes now I have it all
Waited for so long with this pain inside till I finally called Led me where I was and true love is what it reminds me of Never have I felt the peace like only You provide
You wanted me, even though You knew You would die
Who am I, a heart empty without You inside
More beautiful than the bluest sky

I look to You, You
In every situation You're the life that I will choose
Every situation, every second I look to You, You

In every situation You're the life that I will choose
I look to You, I look to You