

Party Of One

Steve Wariner

I decided I was driving into town today, maybe see a show
Even made a reservation at that old cafe, where we used to go
It's just not the same when they call my name, and you're not here

Party of one, that's all I am without you
One less than it ought to be
I just smile and I tell the way just
Party of one, that's me

It seems I'm always running into out of friends everywhere I go
Either asking me or telling me "how you've been" if I wanna know
It's just not the same when they call your name, and you're not here

Party of one, that's all I am without you
One less than it ought to be
I can smile, I can dream about you
Party of one, that's me

It's just not the same when they call your name, and you're not here

Party of one, that's all I am without you
One less than it ought to be
I can smile, I can dream about you
Party of one, that's me
Party of one, that's all I am without you
One less than it ought to be
I can smile, I can dream about you
Party of one, that's me
