

Human Shield

Stiff Little Fingers

How do you propose to live your life in times like these Growing up surrounded by the fear and hate disease
I believe that we all need protection from the world
And our friends enfold us like a barrier unfurled

I believe in the human shield
I believe in the human shield

People try to use you and abuse you every day
Doesn't seem to matter what you do or what you say
Then you need a friend that you can count on when you're down
Someone who will ward off all the hatred all around

R:
The human shield protects your soul
And keeps you on the ground
The human shield protects your heart from being ground down

Dreams will all be shattered and your hopes dashed on the ground
As you grow to realise, this world's a real hard town
I believe that we all need protection every day
And our friends will form a shield that works in every way

I believe in the human shield
I believe in the human shield
