Across the city you'll sleep alone, I followed Lying wide awake until it comes, tomorrow

And you're the one who cared enough to break the plans made for us

You're freezing up You're freezing And you're freezing up with no good reason again

You're freezing up
You're freezing

You're freezing up with no good reason again