

In Confidence

Suis La Lune

Press repeat, hear it all again from start to finish.
I sometimes whisper the words to myself
To see if seems any clearer today
If it seems any clearer

Repeat the lies, repeat what you said
Repeat all those little words
Repeat the lies, repeat what you said - to me.
Repeat the lies, repeat what you said
Repeat all your precious words
Repeat the lies, repeat what you said

Repeat all of your words said in confidence
With that tiny voice of yours
I remember how you told me on that early summer night

Repeat the lies, repeat what you said
Repeat all those little words
Repeat the lies, repeat what you said - to me.
Repeat the lies, repeat what you said
Repeat all you ever said
Repeat the lies, repeat what you said
Repeat all of your precious words

Tell me when you're on your own, when he is gone...
Tell me when you're on your own, when he is gone, when he is gone...
Do you think of the good times we had?
Or just the heartache we both have been left with?
Left each others with heartache.
We left each others with heartache.

And all of the words flew back at me.
All of the words flew back at me.

A word, barely spoken still echoes through my head.