

A Story That You Can Tell

Sunstorm

I can't keep forgiving my mistakes
I need to change for the good
I keep forgetting what it takes
To take it back what once there stood

Bring me home to where I belong
Let me breathe again
I'm so weak but I'll be strong
I'll face the wind I'll take my stand

Trying to make it past
Hard to believe when it is yourself
Make it so it can last
Write a story that you can tell

Can't keep my eyes from closing
I need a break from it all
I'm tired and lonely and I can't face
What's wrong again and let it go

Bring me home to where I belong
Let me breathe again
I'm so weak but I'll be strong
I'll face the wind I'll take my stand

Trying to make it past
Hard to believe when it is yourself
Make it so it can last
Turn it into a story that you can tell
