

The Sound of Goodbye

Sunstorm

I feel the shiver a chill in the night
A cold wind that cuts to the bone
Whenever it means lost in the words
We'll speak in a language unknown
We're desperately trying to keep up a front
We try to stick to it but our mouths on a hunch
We both gotta face it we're reaching the end of the rope

Can you read between the tears we've been holding back for years
We are strangers again struggling to keep love alive
Can you read between the lines we are running out of time
We are so beaten down tired of living a lie
Oh so lonely the sound of goodbye
Mmmmm yeah!

We go through the motions of people in love
Visit places that we use to go
Felt it the magic is no longer there
Baby we put on a show
I see the storms how they blast out the sun
I see two people who used to be one
We both gotta face it chasing a dream that is gone

Can you read between the tears we've been holding back for years
We are strangers again struggling to keep love alive
Can you read between the lines we are running out of time
We are so beaten down tired of living a lie
Oh so lonely the sound of goodbye

Of me deep inside you know that it hurts
And now we don't know who
We're reaching for someone new Ohhhhh

Can you read between the tears we've been holding back for years
We are strangers again struggling to keep love alive
Can you read between the lines we are running out of time
We are so beaten down tired of living a lie
Tired of living a lie

Oh so lonely the sound of goodbye