

I'd Be Happy

Swing Out Sister

I know there's something on your mind
But you won't show
Hell, if I could read your thoughts I wouldn't want to know
What it's all about
To know that you have your doubts
But if you decide to go
There's something you should know

I'd be happy to live without you
If I knew there could be more to love than this
If I only knew that
I'd be happy to find a new love
I'd be loving someone else

Time and time again the words that once came easily
Freedom from my mind and I can't seem to set them free
But if you won't stay
What use are they anyway
My heart will always show
What you already know

I'd be happy to live without you
If I knew there could be more to love than this
If I only knew that
I'd be happy to find a new love
I'd be loving someone else

But if you won't stay
What use is it anyway
My heart my won't let me hide
Now I've made up my mind
If you decide to go
There's something you should know

I'd be happy

My heart will always show
What you already know

If you decide to go
There's something you should know

I'd be happy
To live without you

If only if I'd knew that
I'd be happy to find a new love
I'd be loving someone else
